

Looking for complete coverage of the April 8 Solar Eclipse? CNN Newsource has you covered with comprehensive coverage of the historic celestial show!

CONTENT COVERAGE

Check out all the latest eclipse preparedness content in our NEW Featured Stories Carousel at the top of the CNN Newsource portal. You can also select the eclipse category for content ahead of, during, and after the eclipse.

LIVE EVENT CHANNELS

Channel 1 CNN Grid 1	Channel 3 CNN Grid 3	Channel 5 CNN Grid 5
Custom and Generic live reports	Live signals of the eclipse as it moves across North America	Custom and Generic live reports

Stay tuned to the CNN Newsource Live Planner for all eclipse-related events that you can include in your newscasts and online as they happen LIVE.

CUSTOM LIVE SHOTS

- 6 a.m. - 3 p.m. ET: Carbondale, IL – Mike Valerio – Channel 1, CNN Grid 1
- 11 a.m. - 7 p.m. ET: Kerrville, TX – Ivan Rodriguez – Channel 5, CNN Grid 5

LIVE REPORTER OPPORTUNITIES

We'll have reporters in select locations throughout the eclipse path.

- Mike Valerio: LIVE in Carbondale, IL to witness a total eclipse for the second time in seven years.
- Ivan Rodriguez: LIVE in Kerrville, TX, where NASA is inviting people to enjoy the eclipse.

DIGITAL

Tell the story of this historic eclipse on your digital platforms with text, images and video from CNN Wire and VAN. Stories you can expect include:

- What can happen when you view an eclipse incorrectly and how to avoid that this April
- Drunk astronomers, monsters and red underwear: New book explores the myth and folklore of eclipses
- What to expect during April's total solar eclipse
- Why the 2024 eclipse will be a different experience from 2017
- What to know about Baily's Beads and other eclipse phenomena
- How to photograph the eclipse
- Where clouds are most likely to ruin the eclipse
- How to make your own eclipse glasses
- Why this eclipse matters and how to watch safely